

Gardeners and Cooks

Inspiration for cooking your harvest produce - browse through the library's selection of fruit and vegetable cookery books.

Gardeners who also cook, or cooks who have teamed up with gardeners provide inspiration in a number of recent books, such as:

Christopher Lloyd in Gardener Cook (Frances Lincoln, 1997);

Monty & Sarah Don in Fork to Fork (Conran Octopus, 1999);

Sarah Raven's garden cookbook (Bloomsbury, 2007);

Delia Smith (with Gay Search) in Delia's Kitchen Garden (2004)

and Terence Conran (with Andi Clevely) in Chef's Garden (1999).

For insights into older vegetable garden and culinary or stillroom skills, you might try: Lucy R. Yates' The gardener and the cook (1912) or Nell Heaton's A calendar of country receipts (1950).

Finally Amanda Hesser's The cook and the gardener (1999) records a year of gardening and recipes from the French countryside.
