Sharing the best in gardening

RHS Garden Harlow Carr

Workshops 2012

The Royal Horticultural Society is the UK's foremost gardening charity, helping and inspiring millions of people to garden. We do this at our gardens and shows and through our scientific research, publications, libraries and our education and community programmes. We are entirely funded by our members, visitors and supporters.

RHS Garden Harlow Carr offers a wide range of workshops from pruning and propagation to art and photography, to inspire you and to enhance your knowledge of plants and gardens. Most courses include a practical element and are offered at a range of different levels of experience. RHS Harlow Carr offers the opportunity to learn alongside RHS horticulturists and experts in the fantastically resourced Bramall Learning Centre. This amazing building – one of the greenest in the country – has three classrooms, a library, teaching garden and glasshouse.

Our 2012 programme aims to provide horticultural sessions to suit everyone, whether you are just starting out with a garden or are already a confident horticulturist looking to broaden your skills base. Courses are delivered by experienced, renowned external tutors and a number of talented and enthusiastic horticulturists from Harlow Carr's gardening team. Where possible we aim to highlight current gardening practice at Harlow Carr, including cultivating alpinas, producing stunning herbaceous borders and promoting biodiversity.

This year we have also added to our range of ever popular willow-weaving courses, offering you the opportunity to make willow hares and spheres for the first time. We hope you find a course to match your needs and look forward to welcoming you to the garden in 2012.

Tutor: Rachel Benson

A forest garden is a low maintenance highly productive food-producing garden; something which will appeal to anyone who loves an abundance of their own produce but wants to reduce the amount of work involved. It usually includes fruit and nut trees, fruit bushes and perennial herbs and vegetables which can be planted in any size of garden, from a small back yard to a large rural garden. This workshop will cover the principles and design of a forest garden.

Photography

Getting the best out of your digital compact camera

Tuesday 24 April (repeated on Saturday 21 July)

10.00am to 5.00pm

Tutor: Steve Gosling

A one day workshop on getting the most from your digital compact camera with award winning photographer Steve Gosling. The day is designed for those trying to understand and master their digital compact cameras to improve their flower and plant photography. The workshop will cover the pros and cons of using a digital compact and how to get the best from them by, for example, choosing the most appropriate subject matter, getting the correct exposure every time, maximising image quality and producing sharp photographs. This day would be suitable for new or inexperienced photographers who are interested in plants and flowers and who want to take better pictures of these subjects. Using inspiring images as a stimulus, Steve will discuss photographic techniques in the classroom and then you will have the opportunity to explore Harlow Carr's beautiful gardens and put your new skills into practice.

Fee: RHS Members £80, Non-RHS Members £90

Skill level: Beginner

Venue: Bramall Learning Centre

Tea and coffee are included, but please bring your own lunch. Students need to bring their own camera and instruction booklet. If you wish, you could bring 6 photographs for a portfolio review. Maximum 12 places.

Botanical painting on vellum: flowers and seed-heads

Wednesday 25 to Friday 27 July 10.00am to 4.00pm

Tutor: Colin Swinton

This three day workshop gives you the opportunity to produce a watercolour on the wonderful medium of vellum. Vellum has been used by botanical artists past and present, including Rory McEwen, Brigid Edwards and Kate Nessler as its beautiful surface not only accepts fine brush marks but gives colours a richness and glow that is unachievable on paper. Students will be guided through preparing the vellum and the techniques of painting by demonstration and individual tuition. Flowers and seed-heads make excellent subjects which may be combined with other ephemera. Although beginners would be welcome, this workshop is more suitable for those with some experience.

Fee: RHS Members £140, Non-RHS Members £155

Skill level: Intermediate/advanced

Venue: Bramall Learning Centre

Painting fungi in watercolour

Monday 22 and Tuesday 23 October 10.00am to 4.00pm

Tutor: Colin Swinton

This two day workshop focuses on an inspiring autumnal subject for the botanical artist. After a fungal foray in the woodland, you will have the opportunity to create a watercolour painting using a number of the fungi that you have found. Colin will demonstrate all the techniques you will need and give you individual tuition so that your painting captures the wonderful colours, form and textures of your chosen subject! Beginners are welcome, as are those with more experience.

Fee: RHS Members £95, Non-RHS Members £105
