REGISTRAR'S NOTES

Broughtonia x jamaicensis Saulea & Adams and Bro. Seagulls Jamaica

The hybrid Bro. sanguinea (Sw.) R.Br. x Bro. negrilensis Fowlie, is known from the wild where the two parental species are sympatric on Negril Ridge, western Jamaica. Although reported by Adams in his Flowering Plants of Jamaica (1972, p.125) it was not formally described until 1984 in Rhodora 86: 453-454, which was published on 20th December 1984. Prior to this the hybrid had been synthesised in cultivation on 12th May 1980 by Seagulls Landing Orchids of Glen Head, New York. The resulting seedlings first flowered on 18th June 1984 and the new grex name was registered on 26th September 1985 after a delay of 7 months while the then Registrar sought confirmation of the pollen parent (Bro. negrilensis) as it was a species new to grex registration and unknown to him. However, even without this delay the grex name had already lost priority to the botanical name by about one month. Hence the grex name Bro. Seagulls Jamaica should be replaced by the grex name Bro. Jamaicensis based on the earlier publication of the botanical name. In order to avoid confusion plants derived from wild stock should be referred to as Bro. x jamaicensis while those bred in cultivation should be called Bro. Jamaicensis. Broughtonia Jamaicensis has been a parent of 5 registered grexes to date (see above corrections). Illustrations of the Broughtonia species and hybrid can be found in Rhodora 86: 445-468 (1984) and Withner, C. The Cattleyas and their relatives, vol. 5. The Bahamian and Caribbean species p. 19-21, pl. 2-4 (1996).

Paphiopedilum lowii* var. *lynniae (Garay) Gruss & Roth and var. richardianum (Asher & Beaman) Koop.
Both of these varieties will now be accepted as parental species for the purpose of grex registration.

Paphiopedilum praestans (Reichenbach f.) Rolfe.

This taxon continues to be treated as a synonym of Paph. glanduliferum for registration purposes. The types of both Paph. glanduliferum and Paph. praestans originated from coastal sites, probably on the islands off the west coast of New Guinea, where only one species is found (Cribb, pers. com.). Reference is often made to the staminode shape as a basis for the separation of Paph. praestans from Paph. glanduliferum, however examination of a range of collected specimens shows that staminode shape in this species is variable and that the differences in staminode shape between the types is not taxonomically significant (see Cribb, P. The genus Paphiopedilum 2nd ed., 1998.)

Paphiopedilum wilhelminiae L.O. Williams.

As stated earlier in the List of New Orchid Hybrids with The Orchid Review 108, Sept.- Oct. 2000, this taxon will now be accepted as a species for orchid registration to follow the taxonomic treatment set forth in Cribb, The genus Paphiopedilum 2nd ed. 1998. Previously this species had been regarded as a synonym of Paph. glanduliferum, which is registered as a parent of 65 grexes. Out of these grex registrations only four were found to be substitutions for Paph. wilhelminiae and as they were all recent and have not been registered themselves as grex parents it was decided to effect changes to the data base in the four instances given above under corrections; this modifies the decision stated earlier. The orthography of the name wilhelminiae seems to be unusually prone to orthographic permutations; it was at some point in the past entered in the data base erroneously as wilhelminae, which form also appears in Cribb (1998, p. 153); numerous orthographic variants appear in correspondence. The data base has now been corrected and apology is here offered to anyone who has a result of this error received documents with incorrect spelling.

Paphiopedilum yappianum hort. [also spelt yapianum]

This name has been applied to plants which were claimed to be a naturalised hybrid between Paph. glanduliferum and Paph. glaucophyllum. Unfortunately, there is a measure of uncertainty concerning the validity of this claim. As it has not been possible to trace valid publication of this name it is treated as a horticultural synonym. Consequently, the name Paph. yappianum will be treated as a synonym of Paph. Jogjae for registration.

Polystachya valentina la Croix & P.J. Cribb.

The registration of this species as a grex parent brought to light the existence of two horticultural synonyms which are not dealt with in the literature. Plants in cultivation under the names Pol. chimanimaniensis hort. (derived from the type locality, Chimanimani Mountains of Zimbabwe) and Pol. velutina hort. (probably an orthographic error), are likely this species. Detailed descriptions and illustrations can be found in the following works: Cribb, P.J. & La Croix, I. New Polystachya species from tropical west Africa and south-central Africa. Kew Bulletin 51(3): 571-577, fig.3 (1996); La Croix, I. & E., African Orchids in the wild and in cultivation p. 308-309, fig.10-81 (1997); Pope, G.V. (ed.) Flora Zambesiaca vol.11, part 2, p. 356, t.118, & colour pl. 9 (1998).
