Groups and Cultivars

Paphiopedilum godefroyae Leucofroyae Group

Bred and named by Viraphandhu, Thailand. Made 20 May 2009; first flowered 26 Oct 2012. Seedlings derived from Paphiopedilum godefroyae var. godefroyae x Paph. godefroyae var. leucochilum. Description: Plant bearing a single yellow-brown flower, 8cm wide x 7.6cm tall, on 6cm stem.

Phalaenopsis [x Doritaenopsis] Grenzenlos grex, 'Gerhard Bukenberg'

This cultivar name applies to a mericlone selected from the reciprocal cross to Grenzenlos grex. Hybrid made 22 Jan 2004; first flowered 9 November 2012. Tepals raspberry pink, blotched light and dark, with a few white patches showing through, especially on the lower two sepals. Lip white with yellow rim to side lobes, red towards base of column. The spike is shorter and the flowers are smaller than Grenzenlos grex, and the colour lighter.

Epidendrum Joseph Wu grex, 'Lakeview Red'

Bred by Sam Wu of Hawaii for the cutflower market, and named for his father Joseph Wu. Sam Wu obtained the two parental plants from different people, both of whom are now deceased, without recording the identity of the plants. Cheryl Erins has selected a seedling obtained from a sibling cross of Epidendrum Joseph Wu, and named it 'Lakeview Red'. It produces a strong upright inflorescence bearing many small upwards and outwards facing flowers. The tepals are elliptic, warm pastel pink. Lip pastel salmon-orange with yellow zone in center, and margin deeply fimbriate. Column pale lavender; anther cap white.

x Oncostele Midnight Miracles grex, 'Masai Red'

This clone has been distributed for many years under several invalid labels, including x Colmanara Masai 'Red', and x Colmanara Masai Red, both of which are regarded as trade designations, and were apparently originated by a Dutch wholesaler as marketing devices. Last year, 2012, Ron McHatton of the AOS, identified these clones as belonging to Midnight Miracles grex (Rhynchochile bictoniensis x Oncidium cariniferum). Now that this and the following clone have been identified, the trade designations are here adopted and established as cultivar epithets, in the absence of any known valid cultivar names, pursuant to an RHS Award of Garden Merit. 'Masai Red' is illustrated and commented on by the late Joyce Stewart in The Orchid Review 115(1278): 349 (Nov 2007). Description: Inflorescence erect, bearing about 13 well-spaced alternate, flowers. Sepals and petals similar, lanceolate, brownish maroon, with slightly undulate margins. Lip deep red, semi-circular, pleated, narrowed abruptly into a red callus-bearing isthmus. Anther cap white.

x Oncostele Midnight Miracles grex, 'Masai Splash'

See above for details. Description: Similar to 'Masai Red', but differing in the coloration of the flower. Sepals and petals dark red, somewhat speckled. Lip white at the margin becoming darker maroon red towards isthmus, with a reticulate dark red veined pattern in between.

Epipactis Passionata grex, Light Royals Group

Derived from Epipactis palustris f. albiflora x Epipactis royleana. Plants 17–30cm tall. Sepals greenish with pink apical third. Petals pink. Lip mid-lobe pink with narrow white margin, orange central ridges, side lobes with pink and white longitudinal stripes. Note that f. albiflora is sometimes listed as var. alba, which is an invalid name.
