

Founded in 1920, Barlow Tyrie is the world's oldest teak wood leisure furniture manufacturer and still a family business. We combine form and function with manufacturing experience and expertise to create pleasing designs with good ergonomic performance, making outdoor living as stylish and comfortable as possible.

An international reputation based on stylish yet practical heritage and contemporary designs, traditional craftsmanship, and excellent customer service has made our brand synonymous with quality.

Humble beginnings and heritage

In 1919, following service in the First World War, The Castles Shipbreaking Company employed Victor Tyrie and Frederick Barlow on a government-subsidised training scheme to make outdoor furniture from Teak. In 1920, Victor, Frederick, and others started their own business in Walthamstow, London. This marked the beginning of our long-standing history in the industry, a heritage that we continue to uphold with pride and dedication. Over one hundred years the company has continued to grow and develop.

Above are pages from a 1920s Barlow Tyrie catalogue showing the London and Rothesay seats still in production today.

Royal Hospital, Chelsea

Over 30 years ago, Barlow Tyrie was commissioned by the Royal Hospital to build 30+ Chelsea seats (design attributed to Edwin Lutyens) for the enjoyment of their residents, the Chelsea Pensioners. These seats are still in use today.
