THE WORLD'S FINEST ROCKING HORSES

@STEVENSONROCKINGHORSES

Stevenson Brothers Rocking Horses was established in 1982 by twin brothers, Marc and Tony Stevenson. The pair had a very clear vision: to make the finest rocking horses in the world. For over 40 years, that is exactly what they have done.

These brothers have now made nearly 10,000 rocking horses for delighted clients all over the world. The team includes an in-house saddler and painters as well as specialists in rocking horse restoration.

The majority of rocking horses now made by the company are wooden replicas of real horses. Every detail is lovingly recreated and each replica becomes a treasured family heirloom as well as a much loved toy, for children and adults alike.

Based in the idyllic village of Bethersden near in Ashford, Kent, Stevenson Brothers are always happy to host members of the press for a workshop tour and are experienced in TV interviews. Do please contact us for further information - rock on!
