

RHS PEOPLE AWARDS: AWARD CRITERIA AND FAQs

The Victoria Medal of Honour

The VMH may be awarded to British horticulturists deserving of special honour by the Society and is awarded for life. Only 63 medals may be held at any one time, in recognition of the duration in years of the reign of Queen Victoria.

The Veitch Memorial Medal

The Veitch Memorial Medal may be awarded annually to persons of any nationality who have made an outstanding contribution to the advancement of the science and practice of horticulture. The Veitch Memorial Medal is held for life and there is no limit to the number of medals that may be awarded.

Associate of Honour

An Associate of Honour may be awarded to persons of British nationality who have rendered distinguished service to the practice of horticulture either as employers, or employees during the course of their working career. The Associate of Honour is held for life and the number of Associates may not exceed 100 at any one time (excluding those Associates who also hold the Victoria Medal of Honour).

Harlow Carr Medal

The Harlow Carr Medal may be awarded for life to those who have made a significant contribution to horticulture in the North of England, through length of service, commitment to projects or unique capabilities, combined with reliability and professionalism.

Roy Lancaster Award

The Roy Lancaster Award is open to those under 35 on the date of nomination who have achieved an exceptional contribution to the practice, science or promotion of horticulture.

Reginald Cory Memorial Cup

To encourage the production of new hybrids of garden origin, the Reginald Cory Memorial Cup may be awarded to a raiser whose hybridisation programme has resulted in the recent introduction and availability of new hybrids of merit. This award is not limited by plant hardiness or to the breeding of a particular genus or species, though fruit and vegetables are excluded. The Cup is held for one year and awarded annually.

Community Award

The Community Award may be awarded to anyone in the UK who has made an outstanding contribution to a community gardening programme over a period of time, including community gardens, orchards, urban and rural programmes that bring value to the wider community that they are based.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. RHS LONG SERVICE AWARDS

Applications for Long Service Awards should not be made through this process. For more information, or to request the appropriate application form, please contact secretary@rhs.org.uk

2. WHO CAN MAKE A NOMINATION?

Anyone can make a nomination by completing the Nomination Form but the nominator and seconder should have first-hand knowledge of the candidate and their work. Nominations should be sent to the RHS Secretariat at secretary@rhs.org.uk by 5 pm, 31 August 2022.

3. WHO CAN BE NOMINATED?

Nominations should be made while the candidate is still active in his or her field of horticulture. Candidates remain eligible for awards even if they already hold an RHS award in another category. Awards are not usually given posthumously. Restrictions on age and nationality may also apply (please see criteria above).

Members of the RHS Council and current employees of the RHS are ineligible to receive RHS People Awards. Members of RHS Horticulture Board and Awards Committee are eligible for the Victoria Medal of Honour only.

4. NATIONALITY

Non-UK citizens are eligible to be nominated for the Veitch Memorial Medal, Harlow Carr Medal, and Reginald Cory Memorial Cup. Please note that non-UK citizens are ineligible for the Victoria Medal of Honour or Associate of Honour.

5. CONFIDENTIALITY

All nominations for awards are treated in the strictest confidence.

6. COMPLETING THE NOMINATION FORM

It is important that you clearly explain the candidate's contribution to horticulture. Strong applications will demonstrate how the candidate's outstanding qualities and achievements meet the criteria for the relevant award.

7. ATTACHMENTS TO THE NOMINATION FORM

Information provided in excess of the word limits set out in the Nomination Form or attached to the Form will not be considered. Please do not submit examples of the candidate's work. The RHS cannot be held responsible for the safekeeping of such items and will not consider them as part of a nomination.

8. SELECTING THE AWARD

The RHS ask those nominating a candidate to select the award they believe to be most appropriate. Please be aware that the RHS reserves the right to consider candidates for other categories. We regret that it is not possible to enter into correspondence about this process.

9. CHANGES TO NOMINATION FORMS AFTER SUBMISSION

In the event of any significant changes to the information supplied on the Nomination Form the RHS Secretariat should be informed (E: secretary@rhs.org.uk T: 0207 821 3653).

10. HOW ARE NOMINATIONS JUDGED?

Nominations are assessed by the RHS Awards Committee which is comprised of experienced horticulturists from across the horticultural world. The Committee recommends the strongest applications to the RHS Horticulture Board and RHS Council for decision. Please note that the RHS's decision is final with regard to all nominations. We regret that it is not possible to enter into correspondence concerning the merits of a particular nomination.

11. SUCCESSFUL NOMINATIONS

We will write to successful nominators as soon as possible after the RHS Council's decision. This is usually in the January or February following the year in which the nomination is made. Successful candidates are invited to the RHS Awards Ceremony, which usually takes place in London during March. We ask award winners and their nominators to keep their award confidential until a public announcement has been made in the press.

12. UNSUCCESSFUL NOMINATIONS

Unsuccessful nominations are considered for the following two years of award nominations.

13. OTHER AWARDS

The RHS presents a large number of cups and trophies that are not included in this application process. These awards encompass a variety of horticultural achievements, including awards to plants and show gardens. Further information regarding these awards can be found at Plant trials and awards and RHS Shows and Events
