For tableware that's talked about

Club Matters specialises in original tableware, designed and hand crafted in England. In celebration of exhibiting at the RHS Chelsea Flower Show the Club Matters team has created a fabulous selection of eye-catching botanical designs.

From tulips and ferns to agapanthus and Iris, their colourful and imaginative creations are guaranteed to add a definite wow factor to any summer dining.

Club Matters founder Mary Corbett gains her inspiration from the natural world and a love of all things Africa. From delicately hand-painted feathers and seashells to intricately sketched African animals, Club Matters distinctive table mats have become a byword for quality and stylish design – culminating in being chosen to create table mats for the prestigious Royal Collection and Fortnum & Mason.

Club Matters also offers a bespoke service, designing and creating tableware that's personalised in every way. Crests, coats of arms, houses, holidays and gardens can all be immortalised onto a set of British made table mats.

With a personal approach and fastidious attention to detail, the team has gained a reputation for the quality of their products which are all handmade in England.

With a passion for nature and the environment they are excited to introduce a new range of sustainable cotton baskets this season, hand stitched in Belgium from recycled cotton T-shirts.
