Installations

A series of inspirational installations by award-winning designers will celebrate the beauty of autumn and the edible delights that are found at this plentiful time of year.

Lindley Hall: a celebration of edible plants, sustainable growing and seasonal delights

- Indoor Foraging Forest and Mushroom Den by London Glades: Award-winning landscape designer Jon Davies will be creating an immersive Indoor Foraging Forest full of unusual and seasonal edibles. This will include plants which featured in his Hampton Court Gold Medal winning garden London Glades, also voted Best Garden for a Changing World. The planting will demonstrate the techniques of forest gardening as well as the principles of permaculture and Hugelkultur. A path through the forest will lead to an immersive Mushroom Den where you can find an array of edible fungi in a natural setting. Jon will run tours of the forest throughout the day where you can learn about the edible plants on display, sustainable growing techniques and how to incorporate these into your own garden. Tendercare Nurseries are the tree and shrub supplier for this installation.
- Rabbit Pop-up Food Stall: As part of the Indoor Foraging Forest experience Chelsea-based restaurant Rabbit will offer seasonally inspired food and drink made from sustainable and wild British ingredients. The Gladwin brothers, owners of Rabbit, will also hold a live cooking demonstration at the late event showing you how to use wild and foraged ingredients with the opportunity to taste what has been cooked up.

- La Famille: Floral designer Paul Malget will be creating a stunning hanging installation full of the rich colours, textures & shapes that autumn brings. La Famille intends to create a dazzling tapestry of natural materials that awaken the senses and celebrate the depth of this breathtaking season. Paul will also be running free workshops on both days creating another hanging installation full of seasonal blooms (see Workshops below for details).

Lawrence Hall: a celebration of Autumnal colours, textures, seed heads & flowers

- Autumnal Gateway: Student design team from Leeds Beckett University will remix their Chatsworth show garden Path of Least Resistance for the Autumn Show. Sculptural geometric steel rod frames will provide a towering structure for a striking Autumnal Gateway decorated with seasonal flowers. The sculptures will be set within a seasonal meadow of grasses and perennials created by garden designer Rob Stacewicz.
- Allomorphic: RHS Gold-medal winning designer Paul-Hervey Brookes will create a domed feature inspired by nature and natural forms using textural materials to create a nest-like immersive space to relax and contemplate in. This will be created in conjunction with Allomorphic and will be next to their stand.
- Electric Daisy Flower Farm: Look out for beautiful and inspirational floral design on display in the Lawrence Hall foyer from RHS Floral Artist in Residence 2017 Electric Daisy Flower Farm. Fiona will also be creating a beautiful display in front of Westminster Cathedral on 24 October to promote the show.

Autumn Ornamental Plant Competition

A true celebration of autumn plants, leaf colour, fruits, conifers, herbaceous plants, grasses, dahlias and chrysanthemums will provide a blaze of colour in the RHS Autumn Ornamental Plant Competition. The competition winners will be on display alongside all entries in the Lawrence Hall on the Dais throughout the show.

| 11am | Creating All Year Interest in Your Urban Garden: Professional garden designer Emma Plunket has over 15 years' experience creating London gardens and will share her design tips for structural planting, seasonal interest, containers and garden features. Emma is a member of the Society of Garden Designers and opens her own garden in Hammersmith for the National Garden Scheme which has featured on BBC Open Gardens and ITV Love Your Garden. | Emma Plunket |
|-------------|--|---------------------|

- 12pm Tales of a Ludicrous Bird Gardener: Join Britain's best-known birdwatcher, Bill Oddie, on a journey through the gardens he has known and owned during his life, from a muddy backyard in Rochdale to the ever-changing almost psychedelic ludicrous kaleidoscope of his current garden in Hampstead, which has been an obsession for the past 25 years. Enlivened by stories of a heroic one-legged Great Tit, a Feng Shui Fox and a stampede of 100 rats, it is clear that the wildlife outside our back doors never fails to entertain and amaze. Bill Oddie
- 1pm My Life with Plants: Roy Lancaster is a world-renowned plantsman and a Vice President of the RHS. His chance find of a Mexican tobacco plant in a local allotment brought him fame as a Bolton schoolboy and sowed the seeds of his future career. Roy will introduce his new book 'My Life With Plants' and share the fascinating story of one of the country's most celebrated plantsmen. Roy Lancaster
- 2pm Unusual Edibles in the City: Award-winning television presenter Nick Bailey will be talking about growing edibles in the city. City growing can mean restriction in space, but careful selection of unusual edibles means that you are able to get bountiful harvests from the smallest of balconies. Nick Bailey
- 3pm Prick: Cacti and succulent lover Gynelle Leon set up London's first cacti shop Prick in Dalston in 2016, she will be talking about her new book - her journey from office job to cactus shop and the rise of the succulent. Gynelle Leon
- 4pm Who are the New Wave of Indie Farmers in the UK and Beyond? Nigel Akehurst launched Indie Farmer magazine in 2014 to showcase the stories of independent farmers and food makers for a broader audience of people interested in learning about where their food comes from. Nigel will be talking about the growing community of Indie Farmers - a new generation of producers, growers and livestock keepers - that are redefining tradition and exploring new ways to farm and produce real food. Nigel Akehurst

Thursday 26 October

- 11am Foraging from the Garden: Anne Swithinbank is a gardening broadcaster, writer and regular panellist on Gardeners Question Time. Anne will be talking about how to turn your plot however small into a miniature forest garden with soft fruit, rhubarb, herbs, edible flowers and a few veg. Edibles are as ornamental as any other plant, especially purple-flowered and podded peas, rainbow chard and coloured kales. Anne will also talk on what she grows in her garden for culinary use and explain how this creates more relaxed planting which is wildlife friendly. Anne Swithinbank
- 12pm A Taste of the Unexpected: Otter Farm owner Mark Diacono is an award-winning food writer and grower who also has a long association Mark Diacono

with River Cottage. He will be giving a whistle-stop tour of flavours beyond the usual suspects and talk about the delicious and beautiful plants that can add so much to your garden, whether it's an allotment or ornamental border - including sansho pepper, anise hyssop, society garlic, Asian pears and much more. The talk will feature autumnal tasters and example plants will be on display.

- 1pm Tales of a Ludicrous Bird Gardener: Join Britain's best-known birdwatcher, Bill Oddie, on a journey through the gardens he has known and owned during his life, from a muddy backyard in Rochdale to the ever-changing almost psychedelic ludicrous kaleidoscope of his current garden in Hampstead, which has been an obsession for the past 25 years. Enlivened by stories of a heroic one-legged Great Tit, a Feng Shui Fox and a stampede of 100 rats, it is clear that the wildlife outside our back doors never fails to entertain and amaze. Bill Oddie
- 2pm Foraging from the Garden Planting Demonstration: Anne Swithinbank is a gardening broadcaster, writer and regular panellist on Gardeners Question Time. Anne will guide you through the array of edible plants that she grows in her garden for cooking and making fresh teas. She will show you how to grow your own miniature forest garden through a planting demonstration with a variety of plants including herbs, ornamental vegetables, edible flowers and soft fruit. Anne will also offer expert growing tips to ensure a plentiful harvest for your very own forager's feast. Anne Swithinbank
- 3pm Growing Exotic Herbs and Spices at Home: Emily Rae launched Plants 4 Presents in 2004 which operates from a family run nursery in Sussex. She is an expert grower of citrus and exotic edibles and will be talking about how to grow these at home. Emily's talk will include top tips on growing and harvesting ginger, turmeric, cardamom, lemongrass and curry leaves. Emily Rae
- 4pm Planting Fruit for a Bountiful Harvest: Chris Smith is co-owner of Pennard Plants in Somerset which grows and sells one of the UK's largest selections of edible plants, heritage and heirloom seeds, fruit and herbs. Chris will be presenting his guide to planting fruit varieties now to produce a bountiful harvest in 2018, including raspberries, blackberries and a few more unusual fruits.
