

Biography

Following university, I spent 12 years working in Investment Banking and Private Equity in the City of London.

Gardening and plants have always been a hobby of mine. The Covid pandemic pushed me to decide it was time to combine my project and client management skills with my love of horticulture, design and connecting people with nature.

I trained in Garden Design at London College of Garden Design, graduating with Distinction in July 2022, and I am currently studying part-time at Capel Manor.

I hold a BA in Natural Sciences from Cambridge University
