Lynn Cordall

Garden Designer

Lynn established her studio in 2020.

After a long and fulfilling career in fashion buying and multi-channel retail, she decided to follow her growing passion for gardens, design and plants, and retrained / career changed, taking a post-graduate diploma in residential Landscape and Garden Architecture, graduating with a Distinction from the Oxford School of Garden Design.

Lynn works mainly on urban family gardens. She has a keen interest in multi-generational gardens and how outdoor spaces can be adapted to work for everyone in the family (From young to old, People and pets and also the original inhabitants, the local wildlife), to enhance the way we all live today. Gardens are often our largest room - time to really use them well – for all.

Lynn is based in South Manchester, and works mainly in the Greater Manchester, Cheshire, Lancs, Staffs and the Lake District
